Anxiety

 Some young people may feel vulnerable, fearful, nervous or worried about COVID-19. Here is one of our tips to help with anxiety: Remember it is okay, not to be online and if you are remember to use creditable sources for the information you need.

- Feeling anxious about COVID-19? Here is one of our top tips: Take some time out to relax. Why not listen to some of your favourite music or meditate could you give the Headspace app a try:

- It's okay to be worried about COVID-19, but what can help is talking to someone: This could be anyone that you find helpful to talk to, but it is important not to bottle it up.
- There are lots of self-care tips to help your emotional resilience during COVID-19 here: www.annafreud.org/on-my-mind/self-care/
- Have you seen the Action for Happiness Coping Calendar? Some useful hints and tips for the next 30 days. www.actionforhappiness.org/coping-calendar

Loneliness

• COVID-19 and feeling lonely... Could you take up a hobby? What do you enjoy doing? There are YouTube videos for everything, from yoga to baking.

Sleep

 In stressful situations like this our sleep can suffer, but there are things you can do to help: keep fixed morning and evening routines, avoid napping in the day, avoid smartphone use up to one hour before bed and do gentle stretches before bed.
